Police suspect an elderly carer strangled his frail wife before taking his own life.

Officers were called to a house on quiet Mallory Grove, Islands Brow, after Edith Gravener's daughter-in-law discovered the 79-year-old's body inside.

A search for Mrs Gravener's husband, Ronald, then also ended in tragedy when the 78-year-old's body was found in Carr Mill Dam.

Subsequent post mortem examinations showed that Mrs Gravener, a retired seamstress, died as a result of asphyxiation and Mr Gravener, a retired coal miner, of drowning.

A police spokeswoman confirmed that detectives believe Mr Gravener strangled his wife before committing suicide.

An investigation is now underway, with a file set to be prepared for the coroner.

Stunned neighbours living in the sleepy cul-de-sac told of their shock after the bodies of the elderly couple were discovered just hours apart.

To Will Simm painting is literally a matter of life and death. For the St Helens artist sees his work as a way of reflecting on the experiences, emotions and relationships in his own life.

And his current exhibition at The World of Glass traces his development from his art college days in the 1960s through to the present.

"I like my work to tell a story and find narrative painting is very therapeutic for me," explains Will.

"I once painted a triptych based on my relationship with my great aunt.

"The first picture showed me

Will Simm at the World of Glass

as a baby in her house, the second captured our relationship when I was a teenager while the third showed her on her death bed."

Much of the exhibition is devoted to Will's drawings.

He trained at both Wigan College of Art and Liverpool Art College and believes proper training in drawing is the basis for real visual art.

"A lot of people want to paint pretty pictures, and that's fine in its way.

"But if they want to take art seriously they really need to go back to the basics and study drawing," insists Will, who works today as a charity Administrator.

His exhibition Drawing: The Structure of Visual Art runs in the Godfrey Pilkington Gallery at The World of Glass until Friday (December 12).

'I know Ronnie well, and there was no way I was letting him die'

PSD Motors garage boss Phil Wilson who brought customer Ronnie Lyon back to life when he suffered a heart attack

By CHRIS AMERY
chris.amery@jpress.co.uk
@ChrisAmery2

A St Helens garage boss became a lifesaver when a customer suffered a massive heart attack during an MOT.

Phil Wilson immediately noticed something was wrong when trade customer Ronnie Lyon inadvertently kept his foot on the accelerator during a vehicle test last Tuesday (December 2).

But the PSD Motors boss raced to the rescue – performing CPR on his pal and bringing him spluttering back to life.

He said: "Ronnie brings all his MOTs to us and was in the car helping me with one at the time. I was just asking him to do certain things, like rev the engine.

"All of a sudden he jammed his foot on the accelerator. I called him twice and quickly realised there was a problem. When I looked in the car he was leaning over to one side and had obviously gone.

"I opened the door and quickly turned the engine off. He wasn't breathing and didn't have a pulse so I called 999 and the lady I spoke to talked me through CPR and how to go about doing mouth-to-mouth and chest compressions. She was absolutely brilliant. Luckily he came round while I was doing that. I know Ronnie quite well – there was no way I was going to let him go.

"It probably only took a couple of minutes but it felt like it took all day. I was so relieved when he came to. I was just on auto pilot – it was as if it wasn't even me doing it."

Phil, 51, immediately told the 999 call-handler when Mr Lyon suddenly showed signs of life and she told him to keep up the CPR and tell her every time he gasped again.

Moments later rapid response paramedics arrived at the Wharton Street garage and Phil was able to breathe a huge sigh of relief.

The ambulance crews told him "well done" and hailed him a lifesaver.

Mr Lyon, of Rainhill, who is in his 60s, was still in hospital this week but Phil says his pal is now on the mend.

He added: "I felt a bit down afterwards because of the shock of it all and the thought of what might have happened.

"But Ronnie then called me from hospital a couple of days later – I couldn't believe it. That made me feel much better.

"He couldn't remember anything about what had happened but just thanked me and joked 'I hope you didn't kiss me!'

"His family were very grateful and all my friends and family think what I did was brilliant, but, to be honest, I don't think I did anything more than anyone else would do in that situation."

A Big Thank-you from Rainford Santa

1st RAINFORD SCOUTS

Rainford Scout group would like to pay a massive thank-you to all the residents of Rainford, Crank, Kings Moss and Crawford.

This is a massive part of our fundraising and the generosity we have received means we will continue to grow and improve the facilities and experience for the 1st Rainford Scout Group.

Co-ordinating and arranging the visit of Santa to the village would not be possible without the support of local businesses. Materials were supplied by Steve Birchall of STP Timber Products Ltd and Steve Carberry of HDL with Dave Brewer of Brewer's garage arranging the new paint work. Lights were supplied by The Customiser of Knowsley.

The Sleigh was designed and put together by Nick Mussell - our Beaver Section leader with help from the leaders of the other sections. Martin Cox, GSL said "I am really impressed by how the new sleigh has turned out. It was beyond my expectations. Feedback we recieved when making our way through the village was all great. I want to thank all the team for getting it together and all the volunteers who helped us on the cold nights to make this happen."

Nick Mussell added. "You will not believe the lack of designs there are for building this sort of thing so a lot of it was trial and error. Having a carpenter in the family was always a help but next time I may start in June." He continued "We are absolutely thrilled with all the help we received from the village, either by the parents of the children in our group in knocking on doors making the collections or the people we saw whist out on our tour. I just can't thank everyone enough. The faces of the children when Santa pulled up outside their houses was brilliant."

"The sleigh was greeted with hot chocolate, mince pies and cakes. This really kept all the helpers in a festive mood and the group was delighted by the event and look forward to making it happen next year."

If you want to be the first to know of the arrangements for 2015 look for Rainford Santa on Facebook and Twitter.

Hunt for family of possible Nazi victim

By ANDREW NOWELL
andrew.nowell@jpress.co.uk
@ANowellWIG

Attempts are being made to trace any living relatives of a St Helens man believed to have been murdered by the Nazis during World War Two.

University of Cambridge academic Dr Gilly Carr is trying to contact anyone related to Sidney Ashcroft or his father James ahead of the unveiling of a new resistance memorial in the Channel Islands.

Dr Carr has been researching the extraordinary stories of the eight people from Guernsey who were deported from the island during the years of the Nazi occupation and suffered the full horrors of the Third Reich.

Captured in 1942 for resisting the rule of the island's occupying forces, he was sent by train across the continent to a succession of prisons from where he simply disappeared in 1945, never to be seen again.

Sidney was born in 1921 after James Ashcroft, who lived in Ashcroft Street in St Helens, married Charlotte Reeves from

The site where a new memorial will be unveiled to Guernsey's victims of the Nazis next year and, inset, Sidney and Charlotte Ashcroft

Tunbridge Wells. According to the newborn child's birth certificate James worked as a gas maker at the sheet glass works, burning coal to produce the gas for fuel.

Charlotte and Sidney moved to the Channel Islands some time before World War Two broke out, although it is not known why James did not accompany them. Possible explanations include them moving to Guernsey for work, to escape potential bombing raids or even to help Sidney, who turned 19 in 1940, to avoid military service.

The life of the family, together with all the other residents of the island, changed forever in 1940 when the Nazi forces invaded and successfully occupied the island.

After working in greenhouses to produce food for the islanders, Sidney came to the German authorities' notice in May 1942 when he was arrested for "serious theft and resistance to officials". A military court tribunal found him guilty.

Although the details of the charges are hazy, friends testified later than Sidney had stolen food from a German kitchen and had returned a blow to an occupying soldier after he had been struck first. This led to him being sentenced to two years and nine months of hard labour, just a few days short of his 21st birthday.

He was deported to the continent and spent time in Frankfurt prison before being transported by railway to another jail in Straubing. Another Guernsey man was also in prison in the south-east German city and wrote his testimony of what happened.

He wrote: "On the morning of April 24 1945 about 4,800 civil political and criminal prisoners were lined up in the prison yard and the director of the prison picked out the worst cases of illness, weak, or most wretched-looking persons. Sidney Ashcroft was put with them.

"Although his condition was poor, had he been given the same food we had to eat ... as far as I can judge he would have lived at least a week. Should he be dead then it is possible he was murdered in some brutal manner such as being gassed or shot."

He did not return to Guernsey following the war and no trace of him was ever found, even though his mother and friends wrote to the British government and the Red Cross.

Sidney's will become one of eight names on a new memorial to be erected on Guernsey in April 2015 marking Channel Islanders who were deported and died in Nazi prisons and camps. The unveiling ceremony will be followed by a reception.

Any relatives of Sidney or James Ashcroft who would like to attend can contact Dr Gilly Carr at the University of Cambridge by writing to St Catharine's College, Trumpington Street, Cambridge, CB2 1RL or emailing gcc20@cam.ac.uk

Hospice wishing well

St Helens shoppers are being urged to make Christmas wishes come true for a hospice which helps youngsters with life-limiting illnesses.

Church Square Shopping Centre will be donating all of the money dropped into its Christmas Wishing Well to Derian House Children's Hospice.

It is the centrepiece of the nativity display in St Mary's Arcade.

Church Square manager Steven Brogan said: "Derian House supports families from St Helens and across the North West by carrying out excellent work all year round.

"I know our shoppers are always generous and I hope they will appreciate the good cause we've selected to benefit from this year's Christmas display, and once again show their support by dropping donations into our Wishing Well."

Derian House was opened after a two-year funding appeal led by a family who lost their son Derek to a progressive genetic disorder.

The name is an amalgamation of their two sons' names, Derek and Ian.

Derian House fundraiser Judy Miller said: "We are very grateful to the Church Square Shopping Centre for allowing us to be their charity of choice this year.

"We will be delighted to collect the generous contributions from their shoppers which will help us so much with our work."

Conmen pose as police officers in new scam

By CHRIS AMERY
chris.amery@jpress.co.uk
@ChrisAmery2

Two elderly women in St Helens were tricked into handing over a significant portion of their life-savings by conmen posing as police officers.

The two victims were swindled out of almost £12,500 after falling victim to be an elaborate scam.

In one incident, on December 2, a woman in her 70s was called by a man claiming to be a man claiming to be a detective working at Hammersmith police station in London.

He told her someone had tried to access her bank account and that she needed to withdraw the rest of her money so it could be checked for fingerprints.

The woman went to her bank and drew out a substantial amount of cash. Police have declined to reveal the exact amount but a spokesman said it was approaching a five-figure sum. She then took it home and, almost immediately, the phone rang again and the same man said there was a courier at the door to collect the money.

When the victim opened the door, a man described as Asian was stood outside.

He said he was a courier acting for the police and took the money away.

A similar incident happened the next day, in which a woman in her 80s from Clock Face was targeted.

The offender again claimed to be from Hammersmith Police and told the woman to get a taxi to the bank.

Luckily, bank staff were concerned about her and only allowed her to withdraw £2,500.

When she went home the offender called again and told her a courier was waiting to collect the money. She opened the door and, again, a man described as Asian was waiting.

As instructed, she handed over the cash to him.

Police are also aware of two other incidents in which a man posing as a police officer has tried, unsuccessfully, to get victims to hand over cash.

Supt Louise Harrison said: "All these offences are very similar and we believe they are all linked."

"Incidents like these are comparatively rare but when they do happen they can have a big effect on the victims."

"Offenders are usually very plausible and can pose as a range of officials, not just police officers."

"However, any genuine official would never call people over the phone and ask them to withdraw money from a bank account."

"If anyone does, never give out any personal details and never hand anything over."

Supt Harrison added: "We are also working with the banks and I know their staff are on the look out for suspicious transactions or anyone who they believe may be the target of offences such as these."

Special visit from Miffy the rabbit

■ Young library users were treated to a host of special visits from worldwide favourite children's book character Miffy the rabbit.

■ The visits were secured after Kathryn Boothroyd, St Helens Council's library community development manager, won a UK-wide competition.

■ Miffy has been a huge favourite in libraries and with children since she was first created by Dick Bruna in 1955.

■ To celebrate her enduring appeal, new editions of several of Dick Bruna's stories have been released, with text refreshed by poet Tony Mitton.

■ Coun Richard McCauley says: "We were so excited to have won the competition arranged by The Reading Agency. Miffy did six Read and Rhyme Time sessions in our libraries for local children."

■ Young library users were thrilled by Miffy's visits. At Rainhill Library Catherine, aged three, said she liked to read Miffy books and at Central Library, four-year-old Jack couldn't wait to give Miffy a cuddle!

■ "We had lots of entries to our competition - librarians do love Miffy!" said Andrea Reece of The Reading Agency.

■ "But we felt that Kathryn's entry summed up perfectly the fun that that goes on in libraries, and the warm welcome that librarians give to the youngest readers and their parents."

Mis Sold Packaged Bank accounts

Mis-sold bank accounts are becoming more and more common today, meaning many people are paying for an account that is unsuited to them.

A typical packaged bank account would come with benefits such as travel insurance, breakdown cover and mobile phone insurance etc... However, many of these benefits are useless to the customers that they have been sold too. For example, pensioners may find they are unable to claim on their travel insurance because the terms and conditions contain an age limit or something similar. The mis-selling packaged bank accounts have also taken on the form of an 'upgrade' with many customers being upgraded without asking or wanting it. Banks are eager to upgrade customers due to packaged accounts being far more profitable than your standard current account.

If you believe that you fall into the category of being mis-sold an account, then we can help! We have tackled many banks with mis-sold PPI and won, and are now ready to take them on in regards to mis-sold bank accounts!

was outside the property when paramedics arrived, had sustained a serious knife wound.

O'Shaughnessy, also of Tilbrook Drive, was held on suspicion of assault but then re-arrested on suspicion of murder when Mr Butterworth succumbed to his injury.

A Home Office post mortem found that the victim died as a result of a single stab wound.

O'Shaughnessy was subsequently charged and appeared before St Helens Magistrates' Court yesterday.

The case was transferred to Liverpool Crown Court where she is due to appear tomorrow.

The victim's family issued a brief tribute to Mr Butterworth, which read: "After the tragic loss of our son David, who will be sadly missed, the family request privacy to grieve him.

"David, you will always be in our hearts."

Yob faces prison if he breaches order

BY CHRIS AMERY
chris.amery@jpress.co.uk
@ChrisAmery2

A St Helens man has become the first person on Merseyside to be given a Criminal Behaviour Order (CBO).

Ian Kevin Moore was issued with a two-year order under the new Anti-Social Behaviour, Crime and Policing Act 2014.

The 32-year-old is now banned from entering any licensed premises, including pubs, off-licenses, clubs and restaurants in the St Helens town centre.

Sgt Mark Stanisstreet, from the St Helens Neighbourhood Policing Team, said: "This individual has been causing considerable problems in the town centre.

"I hope that this sends out a strong message to those individuals who are intent on blighting our communities, that we will use all the powers and tools available to us to make sure that the vast majority of our citizens can live, work and socialise in a happy and safe environment."

The CBO was introduced this year to give police the power to deal with persistently anti-social individuals who are also engaged in criminal activity.

Breaching the order has tough criminal sanctions and can lead to a maximum sentence of five years in prison.

Fire death

■ Investigators believe a fatal house fire was sparked after clothing and bedding was accidentally left too close to a gas fire.

■ Firefighters discovered the body of an 88-year-old man after they were called to a house fire in Samuel Street, St Helens, shortly before 11.30pm on November 21.

■ District manager Chris Case said: "There was a well-developed fire in the property when crews arrived and this was extinguished."

■ Crews have since carried out a reassurance campaign in the area - fitting 54 new smoke alarms and carrying out 93 fire safety checks.

■ Chris Case added: "We really urge people to ensure combustible materials such as any bedding, throws on sofas or clothes are kept away from gas fires to reduce the risk of them catching fire."

Restoration project 'is fantastic news'

By CHRIS AMERY
chris.amery@jpress.co.uk
@CAmery2

Repair work that will kick-start the restoration of Prescott town centre is underway as part of the local Townscape Heritage Initiative (THI).

Work has already progressed significantly at 40 High Street, which is more than halfway through its grant-aided works and is expected to be complete externally in mid-December.

The £125,000 project will see the vacant upper floors returned to use as a flat, while the external repairs and restoration are well underway.

The most dramatic change has been the removal of layers of paint to reveal the eighteenth century brickwork once more. The shopfront is also in the process of being restored to a traditional appearance.

Work on 29-31 Eccleston Street, currently occupied by Millicans Opticians, will see a new shop front created and the conversion of the currently unused upper floors into four flats.

Interior work is already underway and the external repairs and restoration will start in the New Year.

More than £300,000 is being invested in the historic property.

A full grant award has also been approved by the THI Board for 11 Market Place.

Coun Dave Lonergan said: "Receiving Heritage Lottery

Fund approval for our largest repair and restoration project is fantastic news and work is well on track.

"I look forward to seeing this project develop over the coming months and restoring a number of key buildings in the town centre back to their former glory."

Prescot's £3.2m THI is funded by the Heritage Lottery Fund, Knowsley Council, Knowsley Housing Trust, Empty Homes Fund and other partners.

Concern grows for missing Michelle

By CHRIS AMERY
chris.amery@jpress.co.uk
@CAmery2

Police are becoming increasingly concerned about the welfare of 50-year-old Michelle Schofield, who has been missing from her St Helens home since Saturday (December 6).

Michelle Schofield

At around 9.30pm, Michelle is believed to have made a telephone call to the ambulance service from a kiosk at the junction of Kirkstone Avenue and Bowness Avenue in Moss Bank.

Since then, she hasn't been seen and isn't thought to have made contact with friends or family. Following the call, a report was made to the police and officers are now carrying out inquiries to establish her whereabouts.

Michelle is described as white, 5ft 6ins tall, and of a heavy build. She is currently believed to have shoulder length brown hair.

Michelle lives in the Moss Bank area.

Officers are now becoming increasingly concerned about her welfare, and are appealing to Michelle, or anyone who has seen her since last night, to get in touch with them as soon as possible. Anyone with information can call police in St Helens via the 101 number or the Missing People Charity on 116000.

Double headbutt

A sergeant in the Irish Guards stationed at Windsor Castle told St Helens Magistrates' Court he would "definitely have been sober after drinking eight pints of beer". Gerald Burgess, 23, was fined £3 and ordered to pay costs after being guilty of assault occasioning actual bodily harm.

The court heard how Burgess headbutted joiner William Bailey in the face at Peasley Cross Labour Club before repeating the trick when Mr Bailey offered Burgess outside. The witness had ended up slumped unconscious in a chair.

Touring Saints visit

60 years ago

A young St Helens boy who became seriously ill after moving to Australia with his parents was visited in hospital by a couple of touring Saints stars. Gerald Weldon, 12, had left his Manville Street home in the summer of 1953 to live in New South Wales but had become seriously ill after Christmas and had since been confined to a hospital bed. But the former St Joseph's pupil, an ardent Saints fan, had his spirits lifted when he was visited in hospital by touring Saints stars Duggie Greenall and Alan Prescott.

Town Clerk taken ill

65 years ago

Mayor of St Helens Councillor W Marshall deeply regretted to inform a council meeting that the Town Clerk, Mr W Pollitt, had been taken suddenly ill and had been removed to hospital for observation. The Mayor said he had visited Mr Pollitt and found him progressing favourably and "anxiously awaiting the result of an X-ray". The council agreed that a letter of sympathy and hope for a full recovery be sent on behalf of them all. Mr Pollitt, 61, a bachelor of law, had been appointed Town Clerk in 1932.

Memories of Saints centre

■ Local centre Brian McGinn (front, centre) was just 20 when he lined up in the Saints team that defeated Wigan 12-6 in the Wembley Final of 1961. ■ He also earned two Lancashire Cup medals in a career from 1958-63, which saw him score 34 tries and 16 goals in 134 games. Strongly built and six feet tall, ex-Holy Cross pupil McGinn made his way to Saints via amateur and reserve rugby. He now lives at Haydock.

A fixture on the skyline

■ Named after benefactor Winifred Lowe, the first Lowe House church was built in 1793 and erected on the original site in North Road by 1929. It was served by Jesuit priests, four of whom are buried there, including legendary rector Reginald Riley who came to St Helens in 1912 and ministered at Lowe House until his death in 1946. Its 127-foot tower is a focal point on the local skyline, and in earlier days Lowe House was dubbed "the poor man's cathedral".

Coach now arriving at transport museum is from island of Malta

By CHRIS AMERY
chris.amery@jpress.co.uk
@ChrisAmery2

One of two new arrivals at St Helens' transport museum was imported from Malta after it failed to meet new regulations after the country joined the EU.

The DBY 318 was a traditional route bus on the Mediterranean an isle until July 2011 when the Maltese government boycotted services previously run by the Public Transport Association in favour of Arriva Malta.

But Malta's loss is St Helens' gain as the bus has now been purchased by North West Museum of Road Transport member Mike Lloyd.

He even hopes to improve the safety of the vehicle and get it registered in the UK so it can be used for visitor rides around St Helens. Maltese buses are unique as many were converted from army lorry chassis dating back to the Second World War.

Others were purchased from the UK before being altered beyond all recognition.

The DBY 318 is badged AEC Reliance but is in fact carrying a DAF 620 engine. Its body has been completely changed over the years and has recently been completely rebuilt.

Bought by museum member Mike Lloyd, it was shipped to the UK a couple of weeks ago.

Fittingly, the words "All Saints" were already inscribed on the bus's rear panel - so it has come to the right place!

The Hall Street museum's other new arrival is a rare Fodens bus which operated in Warrington until 1972.

Fodens were renowned for building heavy lorries but built very few buses and coaches. Today, just three double decker examples survive - one of which has just been purchased by museum secretary Clive Arnold.

Built in 1956 it would have served the Warrington to St Helens route many times.

It was sold to an enthusiast in 1972 for preservation and, for a while, was housed in the old St Helens transport museum.

Husband, 78 suspected of killing wife then himself

One said: "They had lived here for 20-plus years and were a really lovely couple. She suffered from dementia but he was totally devoted to her and cared for her around the clock. We used to see him going up the road to get his paper every morning.

"It's terrible what's happened. We've lived here for 30 years and nothing like this has ever happened around here before."

Another told how the first he knew was when police knocked on his door and told him that Mrs Gravener had been found dead and that Mr Gravener and his car had disappeared.

He added: "Whichever way you look at it, it's a tragedy."

Inquests into both deaths were opened on Monday afternoon.

In the opening statements it was revealed that Mrs Gravener's daughter-in-law, Amanda, had arrived at Mallory Grove shortly after 9am last Tuesday (December 2) to take Mrs Gravener to see her GP, but had found the couple's property unlocked.

Inside, she discovered Mrs Gravener's body and a note, penned by Mr Gravener, in which he apologised for his actions.

A subsequent police search resulted in officers finding Mr Gravener's body in Carr Mill Dam shortly before 1pm.

Police said an investigation into both deaths was "ongoing" but, tellingly, detectives confirmed that they were not seeking anyone else in relation to either death.

Campaign to curb violence

For the fourth year running St Helens Council and its Community Safety Partners are dramatically underlining the link between too much alcohol – and its potentially lethal consequences.

With Christmas approaching, the hard-hitting One Punch Can Kill campaign shows how too many drinks can turn a good night out into a tragedy.

The campaign is being supported by Wish FM, whose campaign last year won an award from UTV Media for best creative ad.

Police patrols will be stepped up over the next few weeks.

Hunt on for lag who failed to return to jail

Police are hunting a St Helens man who failed to return to prison after being let out on day release.

Barry Hardman, 40, was serving a six-year sentence for burglary at HMP Kennett in Maghull.

He had been risk-assessed for day release but failed to return at his allotted time on Saturday.

Police were immediately alerted and have been carrying out extensive inquiries to track him down.

Hardman is described as around 5ft 10in tall, of medium build with dark brown hair and blue eyes.

It is believed that he may be in the St Helens area.

Police say that although he has been risk assessed for day release anyone who spots him should not approach him but should call 0151 777 3835.

Couple's warning after e-cigarette explodes

BY CHRIS AMERY
chris.amery@jpress.co.uk
@ChrisAmery2

A local man has issued a warning about the dangers of e-cigarettes after a charging e-cig sparked a fire.

Robert Bell was charging his wife's e-cig at his home in Prescot, when he suddenly heard a huge bang and his sitting room became engulfed in smoke.

He told how the e-cig had exploded upwards before sparking a small fire.

Mr Bell said: "It was only a very small fire - it burnt our wooden floor.

"But it's a good job I was in the house at the time. If I had been out it could have been 100 times worse.

"I heard a bang - like the noise a firework makes - and the e-cig shot into the air. Smoke then started filling the room and there was a small flame on the floor."

He added: "I want to warn people about the dangers of

An electronic cigarette

e-cigs. My sister had one explode in her house too."

This is just the latest in a series of warning signs in the region.

In June a charging e-cig exploded at a home in neighbouring Wigan - sparking a ferocious house fire which killed a neighbour's cat.

And in October, a man was rushed to hospital after his e-cig exploded and caused shards of metal to embed in his legs.

Emergency crews were initially called to reports of a fire.

But upon arrival, firefighters found a man in his 40s with serious injuries.

The blast produced so much force that it blew out the lenses in his glasses.

Station manager Ben Levy

said: "The gentleman was sitting on his sofa in his shorts smoking his e-cigarette. The e-cig became very hot and he threw it on the floor. It then exploded and a piece of metal went through the man's leg, put a hole in a door and ricocheted off a wall.

"Another section of the e-cig wounded his other leg in the explosion."

MONEY MATTERS

Keep festive costs ho ho low

Make it the season to be savvy with these simple money-saving measures

With consumer confidence in the economy continuing to grow, many of us may be tempted to splash out a bit more this Christmas than we have done in recent years.

The average UK adult is set to spend £530 this festive season, equating to a total seasonal spend of £26 billion across the country, according to research from the Government-backed Money Advice Service (MAS).

That's a total of £2 billion more than last year.

Certainly, the frenzied scenes as shoppers piled into stores on Black Friday, with yet more mayhem on Cyber Monday, suggest there's a strong appetite for a bargain or two this year.

But behind all this brisk activity, many people are still feeling the pinch, not least because wage growth is yet to start taking off. Indeed, nearly one in three (30%) people fear it will be a tougher struggle to afford Christmas than it was last year.

While Christmas is a time for families to come together, it's the pressure of trying to please loved ones that causes spending to get out of hand for many people at this time of year.

Luckily, help is at hand though. The MAS, a free-to-use, independent body, has a money planner tool on its website which can help people prioritise their budget at www.moneyadviceservice.org.uk/christmas.

For those who are worried about having any cash to spare, the service has a "cutback calculator", found at moneyadviceservice.org.uk/cutback.

In the meantime, here are some tips for a savvier Christmas:

1. Fix your budget. List what you expect to spend, from decorations to food. Around £28 is spent per person typically over Christmas on food and drink that never gets used.
2. Boost your Christmas fund. Try to put aside money now.
3. Compare the high street and the internet. Shopping online can often be cheaper, but not always. Look out for discount vouchers.
4. Tempting treats. Look out for multi-buy discount deals in supermarkets, but remember they're only a bargain if you're actually going to use them.

5. Freeze it. Freezing essential items now can help you spread the cost and save a last-minute dash around the supermarket later.

6. Making Christmas cards, decorations and cakes from scratch can add the personal touch as well as saving you money.

7. Think twice if you're offered store credit. While you might get an instant discount on a purchase from using a store card, you could end up with a New Year debt hangover and these cards often come with hefty fees.

8. Send cards in plenty of time. The deadline for sending cards via second class delivery in time for Christmas is December 18. At 53p for a second class stamp and 62p for a first class stamp, the saving could add up if you have lots of friends and family.

9. Use your credit card wisely. If you're splashing out this Christmas, remember that paying by credit card could help if something goes wrong with your purchase. Under section 75 of the Consumer Credit Act, consumers are potentially protected for the total value of a purchase, even if they only used their credit card for part of the payment, provided the total cost of the item is between £100 and £30,000. This means that you could get extra peace of mind if an item is faulty.

10. Make a New Year's resolution. Start a savings plan now for the festivities in 2015, perhaps by setting up a regular savings account.

A third of us say this Christmas will be tougher on finances than last year.

PATIENTS URGED TO FIND OUT MORE ABOUT LOCAL PHARMACY SERVICES

Do you know the range of services your pharmacist provides? Patients in St Helens are being encouraged to find out more about the support their local pharmacist can provide to help them stay well this winter.

Margaret Geoghegan, Head of Medicines Management said: "There are 1.6 million visits to pharmacies every day but research shows the majority of visits are for prescription collections and many patients are unaware of the wide range of additional services their pharmacist can provide. "Your pharmacist is available on the high street and offers free advice without an appointment, making it one of the most accessible NHS services available to patients."

More and more people are visiting their local pharmacist to get help. They are a highly trained and trusted source of health advice. You should visit one as soon as you start to feel unwell. It's what pharmacists are there for.

and will not needlessly sell you expensive products

- If you are concerned about privacy, ask to use a private consultation room
- Tell you if you need to see your GP
- Offer longer opening hours than your GP surgery
- No appointment is necessary

Why go to your local pharmacist?

- Your pharmacist can give you expert advice to help prevent conditions such as a bad cough, trouble breathing, cold, or a sore throat from getting worse
- Your pharmacist is on your doorstep. 96% of the population can get to a pharmacy within 20 minutes by walking or using public transport.
- If you get free prescriptions, you can get a range of ailments and illnesses treated for free through the Care at the Chemist scheme
- Help you manage a long term condition, if you have one
- You can talk to your pharmacist in complete confidence, even about very personal symptoms
- Your local pharmacist does not charge for consultations

And in recent years, pharmacy has expanded its role, and now supplies a wide range of NHS services such as minor ailments schemes, stop smoking counselling and help for people to get off illegal drugs.

The pharmacy is a good first point of contact for dealing with the vast majority of health concerns. Pharmacists are trained to know when a referral to another health care professional is advisable saving patients an unnecessary trip to their GP. If you can't make it to the pharmacist for advice, ask your friends, family or carer to pop in for you.

NHS Care at the Chemist

Advice and treatment for minor illnesses - a fast and friendly service

- The following conditions can currently be treated by the NHS Care at the Chemist scheme. Allergy, athlete's foot, chesty cough, cold sores, constipation, cystitis, diarrhoea, dry cough, headache, pain or temperature, haemorrhoids, head lice, indigestion, mouth ulcers, minor eye infections, nasal congestion, oral thrush, sore throat, threadworm, thrush (genital) and warts and verrucas.
- Your local Pharmacist is able to give advice and prescribe a medicine from an agreed list to ensure the most appropriate treatment for your condition
- Under the scheme you can see your local Pharmacist for a private consultation, usually without an appointment, for a wide range of ailments
- If you don't pay for prescriptions, then any medication the Pharmacist prescribes will be free of charge
- The scheme is only available to patients aged one year and over

Remember..... just ask for

Elvis attackers got in a taxi to St Helens

Police are hunting these two men in connection with a brutal attack on a man dressed as Elvis who was celebrating his stag do.

The victim was knocked unconscious and suffered three breaks to his jaw during the horrific incident in Ashton last month.

Police believe his attackers then caught a taxi to Haydock or St Helens.

The 33-year-old victim was attacked outside Rainbow Taxis on Wigan Road, at about 5.45am on Sunday, November 16.

The victim had been enjoying a night out with his friends celebrating his stag do and was waiting for a taxi when he was approached by the offender, who initially asked him for a cigarette.

Without provocation, the offender then punched the man in the face, knocking him unconscious.

Bizarrely, the assailant then apologised and when the man came to, he got a taxi to Wigan Hospital where he underwent surgery for three breaks to his jaw.

The offender is described as being white, bald and wearing a grey or dark jumper.

Police are now appealing to anyone with information to come forward.

DC Cameron Hackett said: "Quite what prompted the offender to launch into a totally unprovoked and needless attack only he can know. Maybe he took exception to what the victim was wearing or maybe he was just drunk but whatever his motive, it was a senseless attack on a man who was simply out celebrating his upcoming nuptials.

"This is no laughing matter, as this man will remember his stag do for all the wrong reasons. He had to undergo surgery to repair three breaks to his jaw not to mention the emotional upheaval at a time when he should be planning for the happiest day of his life.

"We need to find whomever is responsible for this attack so I would appeal to anyone who has information to come forward.

"If you witnessed the altercation at the taxi rank or you suspect who may have been involved, then please call us."

Anyone with information is asked to call police on 101 or Crimestoppers, in confidence, on 0800 555 111.

A sparkling celebration

Sam Wylie-Harris sizes up the best sparkling wines for festive entertaining

There's nothing quite like the sound of corks popping to make a festive party sparkle, and these brilliant bubbles more than rise to the occasion...

SPAR-TACULAR

First impressions count and a magnum (the equivalent of two bottles) will not only impress your friends and family with its size, but with its taste too.

The clever folks at Spar have released Magnum Perlezza Prosecco Brut, Italy (£13.33 from £20, now until January 21, Spar) in a large format size and it certainly looks the part.

Meaning pearls, Perlezza is an award-winning prosecco in a brut style (dry) with less sweetness than extra dry (off-sweet) and the perfect match with all those savoury Christmas canapés.

A REAL PEACH

Soft and delicate and displaying all the classic notes of white peach, ripe pears and perfumed honeysuckle, bolstered by a deliciously pure freshness, Guerrieri Rizzardi Prosecco Extra Dry NV DOC Treviso, Italy (£10.60 per bottle when you buy case of six, £63.62, available from December 17, www.thedrinkshop.com) has enough structure to pair it with antipasti.

This Venetian staple from a historic wine producer is a world away from bland bubbles.

CRACKING GOOD CAVA

The perfect fun sparkler, Taste the Difference Vintage Cava, Spain (£7 from £9.50, now until December 9, Sainsbury's) is a great value alternative to champagne if you're entertaining a crowd, or just fancy a drop of fizz to sip throughout the holidays.

Citrusy with an attractive creamy texture and light, toasty note, you can always top it up with fresh orange juice on Christmas morning for a festive Bucks Fizz.

SHIMMERING IN GOLD

A delicious cremant from Saumur in the Loire Valley, Langlois Chateau Cremant De Loire Blanc Brut, France (£12.77, www.thedrinkshop.com) is made in the traditional method and the chalky soil and high content of chenin blanc lends a minerally freshness to the ripe, fruity flavours and elegant mouthfeel.

Aged on lees for a minimum of 24 months (rather than the usual 12) adds some extra roundness and structure to the tiny beads of bubbles.

MADE IN ITALY

Another high quality sparkling wine, Franciacorta is Italy's answer to champagne and Berlucchi Cuvee Imperiale NV Franciacorta DOCG, Lombardy, Italy (£22.49, or £14.98 when you mix and match two, Majestic) is made in the traditional method using chardonnay and pinot noir (champagne grapes).

Refined and classy, only wines from the best vineyards can be labelled DOCG (look for the 'G' as a guarantee for greatness) and it's light on its feet with citrusy aromas and a subtle, savoury character.

CHANDON C'EST CHIC

Argentina has joined the A-list with the release of Chandon Brut NV Argentina (pictured right, £19.49, or £12.98 when you mix and match two, Majestic), the South American cousin to French champagne house Moët & Chandon.

A fun favourite on Buenos Aires wine lists for years, it's making its debut this Christmas and the gold label even has a shooting star through the 'A' for some extra pizzazz.

A blend of chardonnay and pinot noir made in the traditional method, there's a creamy richness to the fruity palate with toasty notes and a subtle sweetness on the finish.

Britains  DNA

Unwrap the past this Christmas

Are you a Saxon, a Viking, or a Norman? Or are you descended from another of the hundreds of lineages from all over the world that are found in the DNA of the British?

All of us on these islands are immigrants, descendants both of pioneers who repopulated the North after the end of the last ice age and also much more recent arrivals.

Chromo2 is the world's most sophisticated deep ancestry DNA test. It can unlock the secrets of your past and trace fatherlines and motherlines back into the darkness of prehistory, discover the DNA of the Ice Age Refuges and the First Farmers and much else. Looking at more recent ancestry, it can tell you how British you are or whether or not you carry genes from the Mediterranean, the Baltic, Eastern Europe or much further afield. It can even tell you if you are a carrier of the red hair gene variant. And with our new Blue Eyes test, you can discover your eye colour genotype. In other words BritainsDNA can answer an age-old question - it can tell you where you come from.

ber 14. JB&B Leach were originally handpicked to be a member of Relocation Agent Network based on strict criteria such as quality of service, local knowledge and professionalism.

in the location they are moving to.

The conference day included leading business expert speakers, interactive conference sessions and a trade exhibition. The event culminated in an evening black tie Awards Dinner hosted by acclaimed comedy actor, Stephen Mangan, best known for his role as the delusional and arrogant anaesthetist, Guy Secretan in the hit Channel 4 hospital sitcom, Green Wing.

Currently he stars in the BBC2 comedy, Episodes with Matt LeBlanc. Stephen presented awards to the night's winning estate agents, including the most coveted Agent of the Year accolade.

Relocation Agent Network managing director, Richard Tucker said: "We are thrilled to have re-affirmed JB&B Leach's membership with our Network. They were specially invited to join us and in our opinion, are St Helens's Local Expert for buying and selling."

COMMENT

Council leader

Barrie Grunewald

Free travel for Christmas shoppers

The shops are certainly getting busier as get we get nearer to Christmas but hopefully we'll be helping to make them even busier over the next few weeks.

We've already unveiled free Saturday parking for shoppers but of course not everyone has a car. Well now we're going to pick up the bill for people using the bus on Saturdays too.

We've teamed up with the St Helens Reporter to give everyone free travel to the town centre. All you have to do is cut out the voucher in this newspaper and take it to the St Helens Bus Station Travel Centre.

There it will be exchanged for a Saveaway Day Ticket dated for one of the following Saturdays. The ticket is valid for all bus operators in St Helens. The scheme runs from now until mid-January but could be extended depending on demand and its impact on the town centre economy.

It's a win-win-win situation – with benefits for residents, the local economy and the environment. The bus option may also appeal to car owners, who may prefer to use a sustainable transport option instead of their own vehicle.

Regular readers will know I occasionally like to flag up some of the little-known work that your council does on behalf of its residents.

The other day we had just such an example – when a major gas leak in Sutton showed the scale and depth of our emergency planning preparations.

Staff from across the authority were involved – closing off roads, signposting diversions, pressing schools into service as emergency reception centres for elderly people and providing refreshments at the nearby Sutton Leisure Centre.

Vulnerable residents were quickly identified and a rapid response team despatched to help them, as up to 50 homes were evacuated in the area.

There was a lot of liaison with the emergency services and contractors too, before everyone was allowed home later in the evening. It was a good test of our preparations – and I'm pleased to say everything worked really well.

Christmas is all about having a good time but sometimes, when too many drinks are involved, the result can be anything but happy.

This year we are again running the 'One Punch Can Kill' campaign – which dramatically underlines the link between too much alcohol – and its potentially lethal consequences.

A good night out can soon turn in a tragedy.

There will be targeted action around the town centre and police patrols will be stepped up over the next few weeks, with officers working closely with our CCTV operators to ensure residents stay safe.

On the evening of Friday, December 19 – the busiest in the run-up to Christmas – officers will also be giving revellers free bottles of water to dilute the effects of the alcohol.

We have a very safe night time economy here in St Helens – but we want to make sure that continues.

Alcohol can see normally mild-mannered people getting into fights and vulnerable situations, while the actions of a small minority can ruin Christmas festivities for everyone else.

So we want to ensure people enjoy our vibrant town centre night-life safely.

ROAD TEST: SUZUKI VITARA 1.6

Substance backing up style

By MATT KIMBERLEY
newsroom@jpress.co.uk
@StHelensReport

THE all-new Vitara is a very likeable left-field mid-size soft-roader with plenty of substance to back up the style.

The old Grand Vitara has been drawing its pension for years, so it's no surprise that its replacement, the road-biased Vitara (no 'Grand' this time) is light years ahead. It gets a new chassis and is a similar size to Suzuki's own SX4 S-Cross, but is shorter, wider and taller.

There's also a new part-time four-wheel drive system, a whole bunch of luxury features including a reversing camera, a panoramic sliding sunroof and climate control, and it's not set to be particularly expensive, either.

It's very obviously led by style and chunkiness suits it to a tee.

If you saw its silhouette alone you'd think it was a proper 4x4, but see it in full daylight and it's clear there's more 'lifestyle' than 'life in the wilderness' about the new Vitar.

Suzuki has an enduring image in the UK as a maker of off-roaders; a factor the firm wants to use to its advantage. The Brits' desire for cars with all-road ability, without being as fuel-thirsty as an old-school off-roader or as compromised on the road, is only getting stronger. Suzuki hopes the Vitara has arrived at the right time. What's more, the interior is for the first time customisable, with different coloured trim inserts and even an option to have the classy central analogue clock use Kanji Japanese symbols instead of nondescript dashes.

While it shares basic chassis components with the SX4 S-Cross, the Vitara has its own character.

Cables put distance on league rivals

EVO-STICK

Prescot Cables 5
Padiham 1

Prescot Cables returned to winning ways with a convincing victory over bottom of the table Padiham at Hope Street. It was a vital win for Cables and whilst they remain in 20th place there is now a four point gap between Cables and New Mills in 21st place. It was only Cable's second home league win of the season and their supporters must have thought Christmas had come early as they enjoyed a five goal feast. Cables scored on four minutes when advancing Mason Ryan strode into the penalty area and fired home from 12 yards. Cables were awarded another free kick for offside again taken by Quinn but this time it was too long and taken by his opposite number Burgess. The home side were awarded penalty on 11 minutes when Jack Phillips went down to a clumsy challenge from a Padiham defender. Rob Doran slotted home the spot kick to put Cables 2-0 up. Padiham converted from the penalty spot on 48 minutes to make it 2-1 and give Padiham a life line. Cables responded by winning a free kick outside the Padiham penalty area. The ball was played into Whitehall who held off a defender and saw his goal bound effort deflected wide of the post for a corner. On 75 minutes Cables scored their third goal from a quick break out of defence. Corlett went on a run through the middle feeding Jack Phillips on the right who scored with a fine shot inside the far post. Cables' fourth game thanks to an own goal before and with the last kick of the match Andy Griffiths scored a fifth.

Town's Vase dream over

NW COUNTIES

St Helens Town 2 Tadcaster Albion 4

Town's FA Vase dream is over for another year after they went down at the hands of NCEL Premier Division leaders Tadcaster Albion. The Yorkshire outfit started the game on the front foot, boasting a side including ex-professionals such as former Manchester United man Jonathon Greening. And it was Tadcaster who opened the scoring after nine minutes. Town spurned three chances to clear the ball and, when the ball broke to the edge of the box, it was collected by visiting skipper Nick Thompson whose scuffed effort meandered into the bottom corner of the net. Albion then doubled their advantage after a two on one on the right wing saw the ball delivered into the box and Dennie Ingham made no mistake. Things got worse for Town before the half hour mark too as Josh Greening latched onto a loose ball to score and effectively end the game as a contest. With pride at stake Town attempted to reduce the deficit but, just after the hour mark, Tadcaster's lead was extended when Josh Greening added his second and Tadcaster's fourth from a free kick. Town then attempted to mount an unlikely comeback in the last 15 minutes. Chad Whyte supplied the ball for Andy Gillespie with the skipper firing a powerful effort home from just inside the box. Substitute Marcus Perry then further reduced arrears with a low drilled effort from the right of the box.

Teams battle it out for league victory

COMBINATION

Teams from the St Helens and District Combination were in action over the weekend, in a number of high-scoring games. This week first and second in the Premier Division Sutton Heath and Boilermakers Arms played out a 2-2 draw. Boilermakers held on to a draw despite going down to ten men, goals coming from Brad Coy and Dean Curtis for Sutton. Ste Wolhuter and Ryan Platt for Boilermakers.

New Street maintained the pressure on top two with a 8-1 win over Ecclesfield FC with two hat tricks one from Martin Dearden and Jonathan Newton, with other goals from Jonathan Green and Paul Kenny. In the first division game, Boilermakers Arm Res beat Sidac Res 3-0 with goals from Shane Johnson with two and Karl Foster with other one. Prescot Sun Res kept up there winning run, with a win over Shaw Street and Ormskirk FC kept pressure with a win over Parr Rangers. Find out where your team is in the league below.

Young runners test the best

ATHLETICS

Sixteen young athletes from St Helens Sutton AC competed in the NW Sportshall League in Widnes on Sunday. For the Under 11's Celine Virton scored well in the speed bounce and two lap race. Hollie Brussels did well in the four lap and chest push. Mikayla Clague came second in the Med Ball Chest Push and Elizabeth Greenall won the standing long jump. Rebecca Plant was making her second appearance for the club and ran really well having only recently joined the beginners group a few weeks ago. For the under 11 boys Oliver Lloyd scored in two lap, chest push and speed bounce and Michael Dobson did likewise in four lap, speed bounce and standing long jump. In the under 13s, Kirsten Bottom won the long jump and came second in triple jump. Rebecca Brown came second in shot and Rebecca Houghton scored valuable points in six lap, speed bounce and triple jump. Jordan Benson was one of the most successful individual athletes on the day winning two lap, long jump and vertical jump competitions. Michael Brussels came second in the six lap race and third in vertical jump whilst Jack Woolland scored for two lap and vertical jump. In Under 15s Caitlin Young came second in the two lap race and third in standing long jump. Jorden Pilkington won the Shot and came second in the six lap and triple jump. Daniel Dobson came second in shot and six lap whilst Daniel Lamb joined the team straight from a football game but still managed a second in long jump and third in triple jump.

At 8.30am it really wasn't looking good for this week's park run but after checking out the options, organisers decided to go for a Cross Country park run with 75 per cent of the course on the grass alongside our regular paths. KEHOE Every single one of the 94 runners should be very proud of themselves for braving the conditions and resisting the temptation to roll over when the alarm went off. Tony Killilea of London Heathside Runners AC, was first over the line in 20.11 in his first appearance. Kevin Dudley second over the line in 21.28.

LSH's unbeaten record comes to a bitter end

RUGBY UNION

By ANDY MOFFATT
andy.moffatt@jpress.co.uk
@AndyMoffatt1

South Lancs and Cheshire

Winnington 43 LSH 20

Liverpool St Helens failed to maintain their unbeaten run last Saturday suffering a heavy defeat at third placed Winnington Park.

Leading 8-5 at half time through a try from Matt Cunliffe and a Greg Smith penalty, none of the large band of LSH supporters could have foreseen what happened next.

The home side came out of the traps in the second half and scored four unanswered tries in fifteen minutes to take a stranglehold on the game.

Both sides then scored two tries each with Cunliffe crossing again for LSH and Smith adding one just before time but the damage had been done.

LSH sign off this first half of the season with a visit to Manchester Medics on Saturday kick off 2.15pm.

Hoylelake 15 West Park 14

Hoylelake snatched victory from the jaws of defeat in the last three minutes of injury time at the seashiders Carham Road ground.

The match was played in good conditions, which should have suited the away side, but the scrummaging by the Hoylelake eight was tremendous and they completely dominated every scrum ball regardless of which side put the ball in the scrum.

Sam Molyneux in full flight against Winnington Park

Despite the scrum domination Park where commanding the ball from the lineouts, thanks to their captain Rob Morley, who was having a very good game and leading his team from the front, both he and Lewis Whitty along with Tom Fortune (playing in the unfamiliar role of loose head prop) were instrumental in a number of turnovers, thus securing possession for the Parks superior back division.

On one such turnover the combination of Dom Basley, Liam Fortune and Danny Green released right winger Josh Ainsworth some 60 yards out, he brushed off a number of would be tacklers eventually finding Chris Fortune who scored wide out on the left, Matt Savage converted to give Park 7-0 lead.

Hoylelake were sparked into a response, scoring after a number of forward drives.

The second half started similar to the first with Hoylelake totally dominating the scrums, and Parks backs doing everything but score, Chris Fortune being denied on a number of occasions. once again Josh Ainsworth managed to break clear only for the Hoylelake full back to bring off a try saving tackle.

With time running out Park began to press hard for the winning score and good work by the Park back row allowed Lewis Whitty to crash over to score, Matt Savage converted in what appeared to be the match winning try 14-10.

However on the resulting re-start a very good drop out unfortunately was knocked on deep in West Park territory. On the second reset scrum Hoylelake managed to score another pushover and the winning try for a 15-14 defeat.

Other result: Douglas 29 Ruskin 3

TALKING SPORT

With JOHN YATES

A sporting tale like no other

Few rugby oriented books have given me more pleasure and also a chance to take a nostalgic trip down memory lane than Peter Harvey's autobiography, 'Red-head with Fire in his Boots.'

Unlike Peter - a members of the Saints' all-conquering side of 1966 when they lifted the Championship, the League Leaders' Shield, the Lancashire League and the Challenge Cup - I never scaled any great heights on the sporting fields of England.

But, as we were both born in the 1940s, our early years followed a similar pattern - having to wash in a tin bath in front of a roaring fire, living in a home without an inside toilet, swimming in forbidden waters (and almost drowning) and getting up to all kinds of other mischief synonymous with growing up in pre and post-war Britain.

As you will have already gathered, Peter's book does not entirely revolve around his exploits as both a Rugby Union player, where as a schoolboy he captained England without ever going on to make the senior squad, and a Rugby League star, but his career as a teacher and subsequently a headmaster and the day his school in Kirkby was half burnt down by arsonists!

Saints' chairman Eamonn McManus wrote the foreword to the book which, apart from the rugby, is a unique view of social history from the coal mines to the present day and hit the nail on the head when he said: "Peter's journey through life and sport is, indeed, a fascinating one which will educate any readers.

"It is more than a collection of sporting memories and indirectly a great commentary of a rich era of rapid social change in the then industrial north and the country itself."

I couldn't have put it any better myself!

The autobiography, which I would recommend to any Reporter readers whether Saints' fans or those with just an interest in local history, is available from all good book shops as well as the Langtree Park Superstore priced £14.99.

It would make an ideal Christmas present. I have also got a copy of the book up for grabs in a special competition and to have a chance to winning it answer the following question:

Who captained the Saints' team when they defeated Wigan in the 1996 Challenge Cup Final at Wembley?

Send your answer to Saints competition, St Helens Reporter, Martland Mill, Martland Mill Lane, Wigan, WN5 0LX before Friday, December 19.

Fan Ryan backs plan for Magic Weekend at St James' Park

By JOHN YATES

@StHelensReport

Self-confessed Saints' fan Ryan Taylor has put his full weight behind the RLFL's decision to stage next year's Magic Weekend at St James' Park - the home of current Barclays Premier League high-fliers Newcastle.

The 30-year-old Magies' midfielder, who played at Tranmere Rovers and Wigan Athletic before heading to the north east, said: "Rugby League is a real man's game and I am confident the Magic Weekend will attract big crowds. The Newcastle public love their sport and hopefully I will also be able to persuade some of my teammates (not the softer ones!) to support the event."

Scouser Taylor said: "When I lived in Merseyside, I was a regular spectator at Knowsley Road and admired the skill of players like Keiron Cunningham, Paul Wellens and Sean Long. "I occasionally went to watch Wigan Warriors but I'm a Saints' fan and I've spent some great Friday nights at their old stadium."

Tickets for the Magic

Newcastle United midfielder Ryan Taylor who supports Saints will face Warrington Wolves on the Sunday with a 3.15pm kick off.

Extended opening hours as shirts fly off shelves

SAINTS' new home and away shirts have been selling like hot cakes since they went on sale - and with more player appearances at the club superstore in the run up to Christmas they are hoping trade will rocket further.

To meet this demand Saints have extended the Superstore opening hours this month to allow fans the chance to get down and grab their merchandise with late-night shopping on Thursdays until 7pm and Sundays from 10am to 4pm. Keep an eye on the website and @saints1890 on Twitter for details of upcoming players in store - with the Super League and League Leaders' Trophies.

Time to book your seat for massive showdown

It's D-day for Saints' season ticket holders hoping to secure their own seats or places for the biggest game in Langtree Park's history.

They have until 5pm today (Wednesday) to snap up their own seats or places for the Super League champions World Club Challenge showdown against South Sydney Rabbitohs on Sunday, February 22, kick-off 7pm.

Prices throughout the stadium range from as little as £12 for juniors to £29.50 for adults. Saints also have a range of family prices, too,

'Prices range from £12 for juniors to £29.50 for adults' with further details available from the club ticket office.

● Oliver Davies scored the England Academy side's opening try in their Test match against the Australian Schoolboys at Leigh on Saturday, but it proved in vain.

The Saints' forward took a pass from Warrington centre Toby King to storm over the try line but the Aussies, who led 16-4 at the interval, went on to earn a hard fought 22-18 victory.

Murray ready for title fight

By CHRIS AMERY

The countdown to Martin Murray's world title bout with fearsome puncher Gennady Golovkin has well and truly begun.

The Pride of St Helens boxer, 32, is set to face the unbeaten middleweight king in Monte Carlo live on Channel Five in February.

Murray's previous two world title shots resulted in a stunning draw against Felix Sturm in Germany and a controversial points defeat against Sergio Martinez in Argentina.

And he insisted that facing the Kazakh wrecking ball was not a mission impossible.

He said: "It's a tough fight and there's a lot of things working against me. I was hoping Golovkin's previous opponents would show some type of chink in his armour, but none of them have done it yet.

"But I really think I can beat him. I know on my day I can beat anyone and with my trainer we're working on tactics to nullify his main weapon, which is his power.

"Bigger upsets have happened and it won't be an up-

set for me."

The world champion, who has stopped his last 18 opponents inside the distance, said he was "really happy" to secure a fight with Murray.

Golovkin said: "I respect him, he's a great fighter. Martin is very strong, I think he's my best opponent.

"He's the biggest challenger for me. He has style and more boxing class."

Earlier this year Murray admitted that periods of inactivity following both the Sturm and Martinez bouts caused his career to lose crucial momentum and left him with a "rebuilding process".

But he still hopes to win a world title and then defend his title at Langtree Park - which is just half a mile from where he grew up.

Murray added: "Hopefully it will be third time lucky. I boxed so well against Sturm and Martinez that it has made me a dangerous opponent for a title holder.

"But the fact that I could quite easily have been a world champion by now shows that I'm not far away."

Murray's coach, Oliver Harrison, also backed his charge to become world champion.

He said: "Everybody seems to think Martin's going to lose to Golovkin - he won't lose.

"Golovkin may have the power but Martin's got the skills to beat him."

Saints line-up pre-season friendlies at Langtree

LOMAX RETURN ON TRACK

Saints ace makes quick recovery after injury

RUGBY LEAGUE

By JOHN YATES
sthelenssportsdesk@lep.co.uk
@StHelensReportJonny Lomax is on track for a speedy return to frontline action after recovering from his season-ending knee injury quicker than expected.

The England and St Helens ace damaged knee ligaments during the defeat at Catalans Dragons in June and was forced to watch from the sidelines as Saints went on to claim Grand Final glory.

But the 23-year-old says he is making good progress and believes he will be back before the season starts in February.

"It's been a long process but I'm getting to the point where there's some light at the end of the tunnel," said Lomax.

"There's just under two months to go in the rehab process and everything seems to be going well for me.

"Hopefully I'll make one of the friendly games in the pre-season, but we'll just have to wait and see.

"I'm not in full training yet, I've just been doing some running with the physio."

Lomax says his spell on the sidelines was devastating, particularly as Saints went on to top the league before toppling arch-rivals Wigan at the Old Trafford showpiece.

However, he insisted it didn't diminish the thrill he experienced watching his teammates lift the Super League crown.

"It wasn't that tough; I was still part of the team and it was fantastic to get over the line after such a tough run with injuries," he said. "We had a brilliant start and it got us a home tie in the play-offs.

"It wasn't that hard to sit and watch it. Obviously I wish I'd played and it was gutting to miss it. But it was awesome to see the lads win."

Lomax also revealed he is revelling in the experience of working with new head coach and club legend, Keiron Cunningham.

"It's really exciting to have someone like Kez in charge - his passion is there for all to see," said Lomax.

"He commands respect without even saying anything.

"With that passion and that buzz, he creates a togetherness for the group. Everyone is inspired by him and I can't wait to get back and play for him."
